CITY OF ISTANBUL

* Karakoy-Galata Tower

Capital of three of the longest-lived empires in history.

Throughout the ages, Istanbul has been the capital of three of the longest-lived empires in history and a center for monotheistic beliefs. For centuries, Istanbul served as the capital of many cities which today are capitals in their own right.

Such a long experience enabled Istanbul to design a sui generis concept of cosmopolitanism.

This design protected not just those who lived in a specific territory but also the identities of scattered populations who did not even share a common language. Today, the world and its dynamics are different. But Istanbul has retained its vibrant legacy.

For more than 1500 years it was the capital of three empires: Roman, Byzantine and the Ottoman Empires. It was beautified accordingly with magnificent monuments and became a metropolis where diverse cultures, nations and religions mingled. Those cultures, nations and religions are the small pieces that form the mosaic of Istanbul.

CITY OF ISTANBUL

* Bosphorus Bridge from Asian Side

Istanbul is the only city in the world built on two continents and divided by sea.

With one arm reaching out to Asia and the other to Europe, Istanbul is the only city in the world built on two continents. The Bosphorus courses the waters of the Black Sea, the Sea of Marmara and the Golden Horn through the city's heart.

The most magnificent of Istanbul's monuments are clustered on the historical peninsula, the triangular piece of land surrounded by the Sea of Marmara to the east and south, by the Golden Horn to the north and by the city walls to the west.

The Historic Areas of Istanbul was inscribed on the World Heritage List of UNESCO in 1985, enchanting visitors with an impressive texture. Sultanahmet Square is the core of the historical peninsula and the most prominent examples of Byzantine and Ottoman architecture can be seen as close proximity here.

During the Byzantine Period the centre of the city was the Hippodrome and its environs. The Palace was the centre of power, the Hagia Sophia (Ayasofya) the most spectacular of the religious buildings; the Hippodrome served as the common entertainment centre and the Yerebatan Sarnıcı (Basilica Cistern) supplied most of the city's water, – all are to be found at the centre of the city. During Ottoman times, the square where the Hippodrome once stood became the site for the circumcision ceremonies of the Sultans' sons.

* Yeni Camii, Eminönü

The Historic Areas of Istanbul, inscribed in the World Heritage List in 1985.

The Historic Areas of Istanbul, inscribed in the World Heritage List in 1985, cover four main areas: the Archaeological Park, the Süleymaniye Mosque and its associated Conservation Area, Zeyrek Mosque and its associated Conservation Area, and the City Walls of Istanbul. In its evaluation report the International Council on Monuments and Sites has stated that one cannot conceive of the World Heritage List without Istanbul, which has been associated with the world's major political, religious and artistic events for over 2000 years. The cultural property in this area includes unique monuments and masterpieces of universal architecture, two of which are the Hagia Sophia (Ayasofya), built by Anthemios of Tralles and Isidoros of Milet in 532-537, and the Süleymaniye Mosque; a masterpiece of Sinan the Great Architect.

With its craftsmen Sultanahmet is the place for those who want to enjoy the mysterious ambiance of the Ottoman era. The Arasta Bazaar with its jewellery, pottery, spice, textiles and carpet shops and the Antique Books Market with its priceless books is for the history passionates. For a real İstanbul experience, street markets which called, Salı Pazarı (Tuesday) in Kadıköy on the Asian Side, Ulus Pazarı (Friday) in Ulus and Cumartesi Pazarı (Saturday) in Beşiktaş are all worth to visit. Taksim is a grand shopping area with loads of big brands located on and around the main İstiklal Street. The two kilometer long street has many neo-classical passages that include various types of shops from vintage clothing to hand made ceramics. Also these passages have 100 year old traditional shops and many cafes. Şişhane, Karaköy and Cihangir near Taksim are filled with designer and vintage stores and bookshops. ACCOMMODATION IN ISTANBUL

Contemporary hotel management in Istanbul started in the second half of the 19th century, as the Orient Express extended its non-stop service from Paris to Istanbul on 1 June 1889 (with Istanbul becoming one of the two original endpoints of the timetabled service of the Orient Express) and the city became, as a result, a tourist destination. In 1892, a group of local investors, in partnership with the Wagons-Lits company, opened Hotel Pera Palace in Beyoğlu district, which was designed by the famous Levantine architect of Istanbul, Alexander Vallaury. Also in 1892, The Grand Hotel de Londres was opened by two local partners, L. Adamopoulos and N. Aperghis, in the place of the former residence of the Glavany family in Beyoğlu.[1] Shortly afterwards, a series of hotels, including Bristol Hotel (1893) and “Hotel M. Tokathlyan” (1897), were opened in the same district.

Very possible accommodation style is available in Istanbul, from the hostel dormitories and mid-range hotels to the world-class luxury hotels. Although reasonable compared to the European standards, the rates are more expensive than in the rest of the country.

While the majority of the 5-star hotels concentrate within modern districts like Beyoğlu, Şişli and Beşiktaş, the 4-star hotels are generally located within the historical peninsula. The majority of hotels generally congregate in the vicinity of Sultanahmet and Hagia Sophia. Numerous hotels occupying historical buildings are situated in this district. Budget hotels are generally found in, both, modern and historical districts. At the end of 2010, according to the data of the Association of the Touristic Hotels and Investors (TUROB) of the Republic of Turkey, 766 accommodation establishments of different categories in Istanbul (licensed by the Ministry of Tourism and Culture of Turkey and/or the municipality of Istanbul) had the total of 46,652 rooms and 93,299 beds.[8] That capacity alone was sufficient to accommodate the annual volume of 10 million tourists.

At the same time, another 51 new hotels (of which 25 were 5-star hotels) were at various stages of development at the end of 2010, soon to add another 9,512 rooms and 19,800 beds to the already existing capacity. With the completion of these new hotels, Istanbul’s accommodation capacity will have reached, within a few years, the total of 817 hotels, 56,164 rooms and 113,99 beds.

Princes Islands

Kızıl Adalar or just Adalar are a chain of nine rather small islands in the Sea of Marmara. They evolved from a place of exile during the Byzantine era, to a popular destination for tourists and Istanbulites alike to escape the hectic city life for a day. Of those nine islands, only four of them are open to the public: Büyükkada, the biggest and most popular, Burgazada, Heybeliada and Kınahada. popular, Burgazada, Heybeliada and Kınahada.

Sapanca

*Lake Sapanca

1,5 hours from İstanbul and accessible by bus, Sapanca is a true beauty with its stunning natural environments. Firstly settled by Phrygians, the village's cultural and historical origins worth to be discovered. Located on a tectonic hole between İzmir Bay and Adapazarı Meadow, Sapanca Lake is very important for domestic, industrial and touristic needs. Just above Sapanca, 115 kilometers from İstanbul, Kartepe ski-resort makes Sapanca an attraction center during winter. The village is very famous with wellness-Spa hotels.

NEARBY

Edirne

Located 240 kilometers from İstanbul in the west of Turkey, Edirne is the one of the former capitals of Ottoman Empire. The symbol of the city is “Selimiye Mosque”; a masterpiece of the Great Architect Sinan’s and the complex of Sultan Bayezid II, the Health Museum. Besides, the traditional Turkish sport oil wrestling from early times of the Ottoman Empire is originated from Edirne.

NEARBY

Bursa City View*

Bursa

Located 155 kilometers from İstanbul in the west of Turkey, Industrial sprawl makes a mockery of its moniker ‘Yeşil Bursa’ (‘Green Bursa’), but the big city bustle doesn’t detract from Bursa’s historic allure. Awarded Unesco World Heritage status in 2014 for being the birthplace of the Ottoman Empire, the city is built around the mosques, mausoleums and monuments from its grand epoch as the Ottoman capital. After admiring architectural finery and getting lost amid the push and shove of the bazaar crowds, it’s time to partake in Bursa’s culinary contribution to the world. This is the home of İskender kebab (or Bursa kebab; döner kebab on fresh pide topped with tomato sauce and browned butter) and trust us, you haven’t tasted how good it can be until you’ve had the real deal here. Afterwards, balance out the butter-soaked decadence with some fresh air and a zoom up to Uludağ (Turkey’s premier ski resort) on the world’s longest cable car.
